What is Indicator 14?

The National Post-School Outcomes Center

States must report a percentage for each A, B, and C in the SPP/APR and to the public. States must also provide the actual numbers for each 1, 2, 3 and 4.

States are not required to report those former students who were “doing something other than” or “not engaged” in 1, 2, 3, or 4. However, those leavers will be part of the “total respondents”.
