Transition Planning

It can feel like a roller coaster

© The Parent Information Center

9

10

Transition Planning

- Can start informally in elementary or middle school
- Think ahead
- Begins with a Course of Study in IEP at age 14

© The Parent Information Center

11

Student Involvement During Transition Planning

- IDEA requires youth to be invited when transition is discussed
- Youth are not required to attend
- IEP Team must include youth's preferences and interests

© The Parent Information Center

12

Encouraging Your Child to Participate

- Begin early
- Help him develop self-awareness and skills
- Help him prepare
- Provide other opportunities for involvement

27

Two parts to the plan:
1. Course of Study (Age 14)

- Not just graduation requirements
- Relate directly to what youth wants to do after high school
- Prepare youth to achieve their post school goals
- Long range
- Frequently include work & community experiences

Planning for Transition Services

- Everyone has a role
- Think beyond agencies and systems
- Making connections

© The Parent Information Center

32

Transition Services

- If an agency fails to provide a transition service, the school is not responsible to provide that service
- School is responsible to reconvene IEP Team

Age 18 - The Age of Majority

- By age 17 youth must be informed of the rights that will transfer to them at age 18
- Talk with your child about what this means
- Consider seeking Power of Attorney or Guardianship

© The Parent Information Center

38

Summary of Performance

- Is individualized and driven by the students Postsecondary goals
- Does not require additional assessments
- Recommendations on how to help youth meet their goals
- Sample forms are available

© The Parent Information Center

39

Key points....

- At 14 develop a Course of Study
- At age 16 develop MSPG in Education, Employment and Independent living skills
- Review and refine goals for life after high school annually
- 18 is the age of majority (informed at 17)
- Summary of performance
